Containing the lateſt Advices foreign and domeſtic.

THURSDAY, January 29, 1761.

HAGUE, October 23.

THE following Relation of the Action of the 15th, at Campen, has been received here from an Officer of Diſtinction in the Troops under the Command of his Serene Highneſs the Hereditary Prince of Brunſwick, in a Letter dated e 17th Inſtant.

M. de Caſtries having drawn his Forces together, forced Marches, reached Rhynberg, and on the th obliged our Light Troops to quit their Poſt ere. His Serene Highneſs the Hereditary Prince as there in Perſon, in order to ſupport them, but und it impracticable. His Horſe was wounded this ſhort, but briſk Affair. Major General de ck's Corps, which his Serene Highneſs immeately ordered to join him, could not arrive till the xt Morning at Six o'Clock; Lieut. General Walgrave's at Eleven; and Lieut. General Howard's the Evening, when it grew dark. Four Hanorian Battalions of thoſe that were deſtined for e Siege, and were ſtill on their March, could not mpleat their Junction the ſame Night. It was ceſſary to engage at a ſufficient Diſtance from Banks of the Rhine, in order to run no Riſks caſe of Accident; eſpecially as our principal dge was ſo much impaired by the Current of h Water, and the Storm there had been, that Troops and the Cannon had paſſed it with Difty.

The Troops were poſted in ſuch a Manner, as ave Rhynberg in their Front, and Oſſenberg heir Rear.

The Enemy left no more than five Battalions and e Squadrons at Rhynberg, and marching by Left, came to encamp behind the Convent of mpen. According to our Intelligence of their ength, they had not then been joined by their Troops, which were to arrive the next and foing Day. Hereupon his Serene Highneſs ught it abſolutely neceſſary to make Uſe of his ne that Night, in order to ſurprize M. de Caſs in his Camp, and thereby to beat him if poſe. His Serene Highneſs had under his Comnd 20 Battalions, and as many Squadrons; but, has been ſaid before, ſeveral Battalions had not n able to come up in Time; and four of them, ether with five Squadrons, were left under Ma- General Bock, in order to obſerve Rhynberg, to attack that Poſt, in caſe of Succeſs on the e of Campen.

M. de Caſtries had 30 Battalions, and 38 Squans.

His Serene Highneſs marched at 10 o'Clock in Evening. To reach the Enemy's Camp, it neceſſary to overpower Fiſcher's Corps, which upied the Convent of Campen, Half a League Front of the Camp. This could not be done hout firing ſome Muſket ſhot, which gave the rm to M. de Caſtries, and enabled him, at the e Time, to put his Troops haſtily under Arms. was however attacked, and drove back twice. was a terrible, and well ſupplied Fire of Muſke- from Five o'Clock in the Morning till about ne, without ceaſing. His Serene Highneſs had Horſe killed under him, and received a ſlight rt, by the ſame Shot, in his Leg. His Highat length ſeeing that it would be to no Purpoſe erſiſt in the attempt of driving the Enemy out he Wood, of which they had poſſeſſed themes, and our Infantry having ſpent all their Amnition, he found himſelf obliged to order a Re-t, which was executed without a briſk Purſuit the Enemy. Our Loſs in this Action is comed to be about 1200 Men; and that of the E- is thought to be much greater. We took a of Colours, and two Pieces of Cannon, and one of our own, which burſt. M. de Segur, utenant General, M. de Wangen, Brigadier- eral, with ſeveral Officers, and ſome Hundreds of private Men, were made Priſoners; and on our Side, Lieut. Col. Pitt, and Lord Downe, who were wounded, are in the Hands of the Enemy. Lieut. Gen. Waldegrave, Major General Griffin (who was ſlightly wounded in the Thigh) Lord George Lenox, and ſeveral other Officers, as well Britiſh, as Hanoverians and Heſſians, cannot be ſufficiently commended. The Cavalry behaved extremely well. Major Gen. Elliot, Lieut. Col. Harvey, and another Officer of Rank, whoſe Name is not known, were wounded, but not dangerouſly.

The Hereditary Prince marched by Genderich on the 16th in the Morning. An Attack was made on an advanced Body of our Troops, which was poſted in a Wood before Elverick, and extended along the Rhine, with its Right at Geit, and ſome Battalions beyond it, to cover its Flank. The Firing both of Cannon and Small Arms laſted till Night. A Column of the Enemy's Infantry, which was thought to be the Vanguard commanded by M. de Chabot, marched through Walach, and took Poſt at a Quarter of a League's Diſtance in our Front amongſt the Thickets. The Rhine was ſo much ſwelled, and the Banks of it, about the Carthuyſer Inſul, ſo overflowed, that the Bridge, which we had over that River, was damaged to ſuch a Degree, as made it neceſſary for us to repair, and remove it lower down. It was Five o'Clock in the Morning before that Work could be finiſhed, and the Bridge refitted. The Enemy were only Half a League from us. We however repaſſed the Rhine, in their Preſence, without the leaſt Moleſtation. The Paſſage could not poſſibly have been more ably conducted.

An Account of what happened at Berlin, previous to the Ruſſians getting Poſſeſſion of that City, dated Magdebourg, October 11, 1760.

"At the Cloſe of laſt Month, the Ruſſians ſent off a Detachment from their Army in Sileſia, under the Command of General Czernicheff, to make an Incurſion on the Marche of Brandenburgh. The 3d Inſtant, General Tottleben appeared with a few Thouſand Men, moſtly Cavalry, before the Gates of Berlin, and ſummoned the City to ſurrender, or pay an exorbitant Ranſom. Field Marſhal Lehwald having refuſed to do either, and made Preparations for a brave Defence, the Enemy began at Two o'Clock to fire with their Cannon and Cohorns, not againſt the Ramparts, but upon the Town, having for this Purpoſe erected a Battery before Hall gate. This Fire laſted till Six o'Clock, in which Space of Time they threw above 300 Royal Grenadoes, red hot Balls, &c. into the City, ſome of which reached the Caſtle. After a few Hours Silence, the Bombardment was renewed at Nine in the Evening, and laſted till Midnight. Several Houſes took Fire, as did likewiſe the Wood market, but it was happily extinguiſhed. During this Bombardment, 150 Grenadiers made three Aſſaults on Hall-gate, and that of Cottbus; they even penetrated as far as the Barricade, but the Battalion of Lange played them ſo briſkly with Muſquetry, that they were obliged to retire with the Loſs of 50 Men. The 4th the Enemy remained in the neighbouring Thickets, and fired but a few Shot.

"Prince Eugene of Wirtemberg, who had taken the Command of General Stutterhim's Corps, marched the Second from Zedenick to Templin, in order to act againſt the Swedes, whilſt General Werner was to advance againſt the Swediſh Corps under General Ebrenſchwerdt at Paſſewalck; but the Prince hearing that the Capital was in Danger, haſtened back from Templin to its Relief. His Cavalry arrived at Berlin the 3d, and the Infantry the next Day, the former having marched 11 German Miles in 24 Hours, and the Foot Soldiers almoſt as many. The Troops were ſo fatigued that it was impoſſible for them to attempt any Thing that Day.

"The 5th in the Morning, Prince Eugene iſſued from the City to attack the Ruſſians, but they retired with ſuch Speed that he could pick up no more than two of them, our Horſes being quite jaded with the preceding forced Marches.

"General Tottleben, who had retired that Day from Berlin as far as Copenick, returned the 6th, with a much greater Force, which we take to have been the whole Corps under General Czernicheff; after which the Prince of Wirtemberg brought his Troops before the Royal Gate, and encamped there.

"The 7th, the Ruſſians made a new Attack upon Hall-gate, but were repulſed with Loſs by Colonel Kleiſt, who was arrived from the Corps under the Command of General Hulſen. The ſame Day there was a furious Cannonade between the Ruſſians and the Prince of Wirtemberg's Corps, which was no way deciſive, both Parties having maintained their reſpective Poſts. The Enemy's Cavalry were repulſed with Loſs each time they advanced.

"The 8th nothing was done, by reaſon of extraordinary tempeſtuous Weather; but our People had Intelligence, that the Ruſſians were joined by a conſiderable Body of Auſtrians. The Prince of Wirtemberg ſeeing he could do nothing againſt Forces ſo ſuperior to his, and moreover fearing to bring a greater Calamity upon the City by a fruitleſs Reſiſtance, retired the 9th in the Morning to Spandau, along with General Hulſen's Corps. The City of Berlin, having no Walls on the Side of Frankfort, but only Palliſadoes, without any Kind of Fortification, capitulated the ſame Day."

One Article of the Capitulation of Berlin, was as follows:

IV. 'Safeguards ſhall be granted to the Royal 'Palace, the Palace of the Princes, and other 'public Edifices; which ſhall be held ſacred, as 'Places of Refuge.'

To which Tottleben gave the following Anſwer:

'As the other Houſes will not be injured or 'pillaged, much leſs will the Royal Palaces be 'expoſed to ſuch Treatment.'

Magdebourg, October 16. We have juſt received Advice that the Ruſſians, who quitted Berlin laſt Monday, have got back into Poland. They have ſtripped the Inhabitants of Berlin of all their ready Money; and were not content with plundering the adjacent Palaces of every Thing they thought valuable, but were ſo very brutal as to ſpoil every Thing they could not carry off.

COLOGN, October 21.

Copy of a Letter from the Marquis de Caſtries, dated the 16*th.*

"The Hereditary Prince attacked me this Morning at Four o'Clock; and after a very ſharp Fight of four Hours, he was obliged to retire. I reckon Weſel will be relieved To-morrow."

This Stile is modeſt, but very expreſſive. Weſel is actually relieved. Nothing could exceed the Celerity and good Humour with which the French performed their Marches from Caſſel to Rhynberg; and though the Soldiers did not expect on the 14th to be attacked, they fought with great Bravery. The Project of the Allies was great; perhaps too great to be executed. The whole is now vaniſhed into Smoke. The Marquis de Caſtries hath ſhewn, at the Age of 33, that innate Bravery ſtands in no Need of Length of Service. He is to be ſucceſſively receiving Reinforcements. He is to be joined by four Battalions from this City.

LONDON.

October 23. On Thurſday laſt a great Number of Firelocks were proved in the Proof-houſe at the Tower, which are ordered to be immediately mounted, and ſent abroad. And Yeſterday 16 Waggons, nine of which were loaded with military Stores, Ammunition, &c. and the others with Soldiers Baggage, went from the Tower for Portſmouth.

So

So great are the Preparations now carried on for the Expedition, that it is furniſhed with Stores and Implements of every Kind for a Siege of three Months, and no leſs than fourteen Engineers are to be employed on the Occaſion, which are a greater Number of that Corps than have attended any Expedition either in the preſent or late War.

October 25. The Maſter of a Ship lately arrived from the Texel reports, that when he left that Place he ſaw 200 Sail of Dutch Merchant Ships lying there, under Convoy of a Man of War of 50 Guns, Wind bound: That having received Information that they were bound for ſome Port in France, he acquainted the Captain of an Engliſh Man of War, who ſent his Boat along-ſide of the Commodore, and aſked him if they were French Ships; but was told they were Dutch, but were bound to Bourdeaux, and that they were laden with Guns, Ammunition, and other warlike Stores, for the Uſe of the French.

It is reported, that within theſe few Days an Engliſh Man of War, being at Anchor in the Texel, where a Dutch Man of War, with a Convoy of upwards of 200 Sail of Ships bound for the Ports of France was lying, the Dutch Man of War during three Days rode under French Colours; and on being aſked by the Boat of the Engliſh Ship, why he hoiſted French Colours, he anſwered, That he choſe it, and it ſerved for a private Signal. At the ſame Time two Dutch Eaſt-India Ships went out of the Texel, and hoiſted French Colours, when they went to Sea, and ſaluted the Directors of the Company on their going aſhore under thoſe Colours.

November 4. The following is the Account of what appeared to the Surgeons upon opening the Body of his late Majeſty.

Kenſington Palace, October 26, 1760.

" In Obedience to the Order tranſmitted to us by the Right Hon. Mr. Vice Chamberlain: We the under-ſigned have this Day opened and examined the Body of his late Majeſty in the Preſence of Sir Edward Wilmot, Bart. and Dr. Nicholls, two of his late Majeſty's Phyſicians; and firſt, on opening the Belly, we found all the Parts therein contained in a natural and healthy State, except only that on the Surface of each Kidney there were ſome Hydatides, or watery Bladders, which, however, we determined could not have been at this Time of any material Conſequence.

" On opening the Breaſt we obſerved the Pericardium or Bag which contains the Heart extraordinarily diſtended, which was owing to a large Effuſion of Blood that had been diſcharged therein from a Rupture in the Subſtance of the right Ventricle of the Heart. The Quantity of the Blood in the Pericardium was at leaſt a Pint, the moſt Part of which was ſtrongly coagulated.

" The Rupture of the Ventricle, and the conſequent Effuſion of Blood in the Pericardium, were certainly the immediate Cauſe of his late Majeſty's ſudden Death.

" The Brains, Lungs, and all other Parts were in a perfect State."

E. Wilmot, John Ranby,
Fr. Nicholls, C. Hawkins.

Nov. 8. The Caſe of a Rupture of the Heart in a late great Perſonage, is looked upon by the medical Gentlemen as without Example, inſomuch, that had the Fact been certified by People of leſs eminent Abilities in Anatomy, than thoſe to whom the Inſpection was committed, it would have ſtaggered the Faith of the Faculty.

The greateſt Number of Merchants went to Court Yeſterday that was ever known to go upon any Occaſion; the Proceſſion conſiſting of about 200 Coaches and Chariots.

It is ſaid that twelve Millions are propoſed to be raiſed for the Service of the enſuing Year at 3 per Cent, the Subſcribers to have for a Douceur a long Annuity of one per Cent, for 99 Years, payable half yearly at the Exchequer.

We hear from good Authority, that the Earl of Huntingdon will be appointed Maſter of the Horſe, in the Room of Lord Gower, and that his Lordſhip will ſucceed Sir Thomas Robinſon, Knight of the Bath, as Maſter of the Wardrobe, who will be appointed one of the joint Treaſurers of Ireland, in the Room of Wellbore Ellis, Eſq; who reſigns.

WHITEHALL, November 12, 1760.

Wednesday Night.

LATE this Evening a Messenger arrived at the Earl of Holderneſſe's Office, at Whitehall, with the following Letter from the Honourable Major General YORKE, his Majeſty's Miniſter Plenipotentiary at the Hague.

HAGUE, November 10, 1760.

Monday Morning, Six o'Clock.

My Lord,

BY a Meſſenger this Moment arrived from Magdebourg, we have the great, glorious, and fortunate News, That it had pleaſed the Divine Providence to give his Pruſſian Majeſty a compleat Victory over the whole Auſtrian Army under M. Daun on the 3d Inſtant, near Torgau. The King of Pruſſia ſent this Account to Magdebourg; but as the Night was come on, his Majeſty wrote Word, that he could not ſend the Particulars. The Meſſenger who brought the Account, ſaid, That Marſhal Daun had been obliged to repaſs the Elbe, which muſt have had the moſt important Conſequences in ſuch a Seaſon. We learn by the ſame Meſſenger, that the Ruſſians were marching into Poland, and that General Laudohn, having failed in his Attempt upon Coſel, had been obliged to retire into Upper Sileſia. I diſpatch this by Bullock the Meſſenger, who accompanies the Pruſſian Courier, on board a fiſhing Boat, and as the Weather is fine, and the Wind fair, I make no Doubt but they will arrive ſpeedily in England.

I have the Honour to congratulate your Lordſhip moſt ſincerely upon this happy and providential Event, which cannot but have the greateſt Conſequences. Signed, JOSEPH YORKE.

FROM OTHER PAPERS.

LONDON, November 13.

The Battle between the King of Pruſſia and M. Daun, we hear, began at 7 in the Morning, with Skirmiſhes between the advanced Poſts on both Sides; about 9 the Action became General, and the Auſtrians having ſome Advantage of the Ground, the Pruſſians could not, for a conſiderable Time gain the Aſcendant: But at length the Auſtrians Left Wing giving Way a little, the King improved his Advantage there ſo rapidly, that the Laid Wing was entirely broken, and then the Right and Centre were forced to quit the Field in Diſorder.

Nov. 15. It is ſaid that Count Daun's Retreat was ſo precipitate, that, tho' he had thrown 3 Bridges over the Elbe, near 4000 of his Troops were drowned; that almoſt all his Cannon, Colours, Tents, and Baggage are taken. The Battle laſted 7 Hours. The Number ſlain on both Sides, is ſaid to be upwards of 20,000.

The Park and Tower Guns were fired by Order of his Majeſty, being the firſt Inſtance of the Guns firing for the Succeſs of his Pruſſian Majeſty.

Nov. 18. By a Gentleman arrived in the Paſhing Packet Boat, there is an Account, that a Week ago they had Advice at Bruſſels, that the King of Pruſſia had entirely defeated Count Daun's Army.

By a Ship from Hamburgh in 7 Days, we have Confirmation of the great Action of the King of Pruſſia, wherein 20,000 Auſtrians were killed, 10,000 taken Priſoners, with 110 Pieces of Cannon, and all their Baggage, &c. A moſt compleat Victory!

NEW-YORK, January 16.

Letters brought by the Expreſs ſay, That the Grand Expedition Fleet was on the Point of ſailing, the Troops being all embarked; that the General Officers had taken Leave of Mr. Pitt, and were ſet out for Portſmouth; and that there was not the leaſt Probability of a Peace.

Yeſterday Evening his Majeſty's Ship the Foy, Capt. Toning, arrived here from Portſmouth, with Paſh, in 9 Weeks.

Bladenſburg, January 27, 1761.

ON Tueſday the 10th of February next, the SERVANTS for Seven Years, imported in the Phœnix, Captain M'Gachin, will be Sold for Sterling, Tobacco, or Currency, on Board the ſaid Ship, at the Naval-Office, Cedar-Point; but if the Ice renders it dangerous for the Ship to lie there, ſhe will run into the Mouth of Wiccomico, and the Sale will be there on the Day aforeſaid.
